PURPOSE

The purpose of this policy is to provide a framework for acquiring, cataloguing, caring for and preserving the Hurstville Museum and Gallery collection, on display, in storage and on loan. This policy will ensure that collections are appropriately managed and protected at all times and that relevant staff understand their roles in caring for the collection.

SCOPE

Hurstville Museum & Gallery is dedicated to the task of collecting and preserving authentic items that exemplify the cultural and political history of the St George region.

This policy applies to Hurstville Museum and Gallery's:

- Artefact collection,
- Artwork collection,
- Secondary collection and props.

Hurstville Museum & Gallery is committed to providing a broad range of information and opinions. Themes, subjects or materials are not excluded on the perceived notion that they may be controversial.

DEFINITION OF TERMS

Term	Meaning
Artefact	An object of cultural or historical interest
Artwork	Material, such as painting, drawing or sculpture, with perceived artistic merit.
Prop/ non-core collection	An item that is a duplicate or lacks provenance that may be used in environments not suitable for the core collection, such as hands-on activities.
St George	The St George region is recognised as the parish of St George, including the local government areas of Georges River Council and the former Rockdale City Council, now partly comprising Bayside Council.
Georges River Council	Georges River Council refers to the land gazetted under Georges River Council. This term includes the historical past of former Hurstville and Kogarah City Council's.

Core collection	Items that meet one or more of the collection criteria as specified in this policy.

POLICY STATEMENT

1. Collection areas

Hurstville Museum & Gallery tells the stories of individuals, groups and communities in the St George area from its earliest peoples to the present day, and how life has changed over the years. Hurstville Museum & Gallery aims to collect and preserve items related to the history and community of St George, specifically, items associated with the following collection areas:

- Aboriginal history, culture and identity in the St George region
- Prominent local personalities from 1788
- Domestic life 1800s-1950s
- Local industries & businesses
- Early education and local schools
- The war years in the St George region
- The Depression years in the St George region
- Interpretation of the bakery building (43b Bridge Street Hurstville) and 14 MacMahon Street, Hurstville
- Heritage of the Georges River Council
- History, culture and identity of migrant and multicultural communities in the St George region.
- Artworks associated with the St George region, local artists, or Georges River Council.

2. Collection criteria

2.1 Artefacts and objects

- Material is authentic and demonstrates a link to Hurstville Museum & Gallery's collecting areas
- Material is in a sound physical condition
- Material is not duplicated within the collection. Duplicate items shall only be accepted where the newer item is:

- a) a better example
- b) part of a sub-collection already well represented in the collection, or
- c) has some historical significance not attached to the item already in the collection
- Material is of an appropriate format, specifically:
 - a) objects which have a long-term value for research and inclusion in exhibitions and programs
 - b) mounted photographs where the frame or album is of historical significance and has an association with the photographs
 - c) photographs that provide additional information on an associated artefact

2.2 Rare and valuable publications

- Unique or rare books written about, published or authored in St George that are:
 - a) published pre-1800 with a strong association with the St George area
 - b) of aesthetic importance, e.g. outstanding printing, illustrating or binding, and with a strong association with the Hurstville area
 - c) limited editions signed by a distinguished local author
 - d) personal copies owned and signed by a prominent local person

2.3 Artworks and associated material

- Winning entries of acquisitive prizes awarded by Georges River Council
- Items related to Georges River Council and its national and international relations (e.g. gifts from sister cities)
- Works of recognised artistic merit by artists who have a significant connection to the St George region
- Significant works characteristic of a period already well represented in the collection
- Works which contribute to a well-balanced representation of the works of local and visiting artists to the St George region
- Historical artworks depicting the exploration, settlement and development of the St George region
- Works which can be authenticated by reliable sources

- Works that are in a sound physical condition
- Archival material that assists in the interpretation of artworks in the collection.

3. Core and non-core collections

Items that meet some or all of Hurstville Museum & Gallery's collection criteria are considered to be the core collection.

In addition to this collection, Hurstville Museum & Gallery will maintain a secondary, non-core collection for the purpose of display props or hands-on activities. The non-core collection consists of items that:

- Are duplicates
- Lack specific provenance
- Are not specifically significant to the St George area or its' residents
- May be used in craft activities.

4. Acquisition process

Hurstville Museum & Gallery shall acquire items for the permanent collection that fit within the scope of the collection policy, primarily by donation, bequest, gift or transfer. Hurstville Museum & Gallery may purchase items under special circumstances at the discretion of the Collections Committee, however, this shall not be common practice.

Hurstville Museum & Gallery will not accept conditional donations.

A preliminary object donation information form must be completed for potential new donations. The form includes, but is not limited to, information regarding the:

- details of the donor
- description of the item
- history/provenance of the item
- the significance of the item.

Items will not be accepted without this form. Furthermore, items will not be taken into the care of Hurstville Museum & Gallery until they have been formally accepted for acquisition.

Hurstville Museum & Gallery is under no responsibility to keep items that have been left/dropped off at Hurstville Museum & Gallery.

Decisions to accept or decline an item are agreed to by a Collections Committee. All potential acquisitions must be assessed against Hurstville Museum & Gallery's collection areas and criteria by the Collections Committee. The Committee is comprised of the Coordinator Cultural Services, Collections Officer and Curator. The Committee will meet every two weeks, as necessary.

Items approved for acquisition may be delivered to Hurstville Museum & Gallery. Hurstville Museum & Gallery may arrange to pick up items from a donor under special circumstances and at the discretion of the Collections Committee.

If an offer of donation is declined, the donor is to receive a formal letter outlining the reasons why the item does not meet Hurstville Museum & Gallery's collection criteria. If possible, the letter is to suggest alternative places for donation.

5. Cataloguing

5.1 Receipting collection items

All items accepted into Hurstville Museum & Gallery's collections will be registered first in a receipt book and receive a receipt number. This includes all core and non-core collections.

An item should be registered in the receipt book immediately after it is acquired. The receipt book should be digitised and new receipted items should be updated at least quarterly.

5.2 Accessioning collection items

Items that have been receipted for acquisition into Hurstville Museum & Gallery's collections should be registered in an accession book as soon as possible.

Accession registers should be digitised and new accessioned items should be updated at least quarterly.

5.3 Cataloguing collection items

Hurstville Museum & Gallery will catalogue core collection items as a priority. A detailed object information and condition report must be completed to form the foundation of catalogue records. This information is then uploaded to Hurstville Museum & Gallery's collection management database.

Cataloguing should be completed as soon as possible after an item is accessioned into the collection. Cataloguing is primarily the responsibility of the Collections Officer, but may be undertaken by trained Hurstville Museum & Gallery staff.

6. Loans

Hurstville Museum & Gallery will lend and borrow material to supplement temporary exhibitions and to help meet its interpretive aims. The management of loans is the responsibility of Hurstville Museum & Gallery's Curators and Collections Officer. This includes ensuring loaned items are returned on time and in good condition. All loans must be approved by the Coordinator Cultural Services.

The maximum loan period for both inward and outward loans is 12 months. Permanent and long term loans will not be entered into by Hurstville Museum & Gallery.

All loans will be documented on loan agreement forms. Hurstville Museum & Gallery holds separate forms for inward and outward loans.

6.1 Inward loans

Inward loans shall only be accepted for specific exhibitions or research and for short, fixed periods of time. A representative of both the Hurstville Museum & Gallery and the lender will be required to sign an agreed inward loan form. Each party will hold a copy of this agreement. This form will record the period of the loan, conditions of the loan, any specific object requirements and condition of the object.

Inward loan conditions include, but are not limited to:

- Hurstville Museum & Gallery will give the same care and protection to borrowed objects as it does to objects in its own collection.
- All transport and handling costs shall be borne by the lender.
- Evidence of damage at the time of receipt or while in Hurstville Museum & Gallery's custody will be promptly reported to the lender.
- Loans shall remain in the possession of Hurstville Museum & Gallery for the time specified in the agreement, but may be withdrawn from exhibition by Hurstville Museum & Gallery or by request from the lender.
- Hurstville Museum & Gallery will not clean, repair, restore, or otherwise alter the object(s) without the lender's written permission.
- The lender certifies that the object(s) lent are in good condition and able to withstand the ordinary strains of packing, shipping and handling.

Inward loans shall be recorded in a separate loans register.

Hurstville Museum & Gallery can request to renew loans if required. Documentation recording renewal must be signed by a Hurstville Museum & Gallery representative and the lender.

6.2 Outward loans

Hurstville Museum & Gallery will lend objects to other museums and organisations holding collections. Where appropriate, objects may be used for programs, research and display. Objects from the core collection are not available for loan by the general public or private collectors. Items from the non-core collection, i.e. props, may be loaned to individuals or groups in the general public for the purpose of outreach programming.

Borrowers and a representative from Hurstville Museum & Gallery will be required to sign two outward loan agreement forms. Each party will hold a copy of this agreement. This form will record conditions of the loan and the period of the loan.

Outward loan conditions include, but are not limited to:

- The borrower must exercise care in the handling, transport, storage and display of the loan object, subject to the requirements and recommendations of the object condition report.
- The borrower will provide a secure display and/or storage area.
- The borrower will immediately notify Hurstville Museum & Gallery of any damage or loss to an item and will provide a detailed report describing the nature of the damage, the circumstances in which the damage occurred and photographic documentation of the damage. Unless it is necessary to move the item for protection from further damage, the borrower will wait for instructions from the Museum & Gallery.
- All loans must be returned before the expiry of the loan period. Applications for extension of this period must be made prior to the loan expiry date.
- The borrower will provide insurance for any damage or loss for each loan item up to the value specified against it in the agreement form, for the full period of absence from Hurstville Museum & Gallery, including transport to and from the loan destination.
- Objects cannot be treated or altered in any way without the written permission of Hurstville Museum & Gallery.
- Loans will remain in the possession of the borrower until returned to Hurstville Museum & Gallery.
- Hurstville Museum & Gallery reserves the right to request the object's return if the need arises, particularly in the case of long-term loans.

The movement of objects and artworks from Hurstville Museum & Gallery's collection to alternate Georges River Council venues for display will be managed through Hurstville Museum & Gallery's collection management system.

7. Access

A portion of the collection is displayed in permanent and temporary exhibitions, accessible to the public through regular opening hours and by appointment. Objects in storage may also be viewed by appointment with the Collections Officer. These objects should be taken from storage and brought to Hurstville Museum & Gallery's public space.

Access to materials that are very fragile or unable to be moved from storage may be restricted. Reference copies of documentary or pictorial items may be used rather than the original items.

Behind the scenes guided tours of storage areas may be arranged as special events or by appointment, at the discretion of the Collections Officer and Coordinator Cultural Services.

The collection records are accessible for research purposes by consultation. A limited, read-only, visitor application of the collection management system may be available by appointment, and in accordance with Council's professional services fees.

8. Preventative conservation

Hurstville Museum & Gallery aims to achieve high standards of collection care and storage.

8.1 Managing the environment

Environmental conditions in Hurstville Museum & Gallery building are to be measured including temperature, relative humidity, UV and lux levels. Measurements should be taken in the middle of the room where possible, or directly above or adjacent to sensitive items.

Temperature and relative humidity should be kept as stable as possible through the use of air-conditioners and dehumidifiers.

Ultra-violet light should be excluded from exhibition and storage areas. When areas in Hurstville Museum & Galley are not in use, lights must be turned off.

All areas containing collection items must be regularly checked for pests and other problems.

8.2 Cleaning

Storage areas must remain clean, secure and sealed against the weather. Exhibition and storage areas should be cleaned regularly to maintain this standard.

Contractors are responsible for vacuuming floors in exhibition spaces. Hurstville Museum & Gallery staff are responsible for cleaning display cabinets and objects. Removing dust from cabinets and large objects should be done weekly. Individual objects need to be cleaned with extreme care and with attention to the material they are made from and their physical condition.

8.3 Storage methods

The main collection store is located in the basement of the Hurstville Library building. Access to this storage area is to be as controlled as possible.

Archival quality, acid-free storage materials should be used for all items, particularly sensitive collection material. Objects are to be wrapped in tissue or other packaging material and stored in boxes when appropriate. Boxes are not to be over-packed. Objects that are unable to be boxed should be covered in appropriate archival material.

Objects are not to be stored on the floor. Elevating items off the floor allows for air flow, reduces the spaces in which dust can build up, allows for ease of cleaning and reduces the risk of accidental knocking and pest/mould infestation.

Plain, undyed archival materials should be used as dust covers over shelves and free-standing objects, to allow for sufficient air flow around collection items and offer protection from abrasive dust and dirt.

8.4 Caring for objects on display

Display cases should be kept free of dust and dirt.

Sensitive collection items should not be displayed for extended periods. Objects should be monitored daily as part of normal opening and closing procedures to observe signs of deterioration. Signs of increasing deterioration should be reported to the Collections Officer.

Copies of photographs or documents are preferred over the original collection items for long term displays.

Collection items on display should be supported correctly.

8.5 Interventive conservation

Untrained personnel should not attempt to clean, treat or restore collection objects. Plans for interventive work should be discussed with members of the Collections Committee. Appropriate interventive work for Hurstville Museum & Gallery staff includes basic cleaning and basic paper conservation (tear repair, flattening, staple removal, etc.). Trained conservators should be contacted for any other conservation needs.

9 Deaccessioning and disposal

9.1 Criteria for deaccessioning

An item can be deaccessioned from Hurstville Museum & Gallery's collection if:

- It does not comply with Hurstville Museum & Gallery's current collecting areas and criteria
- It has deteriorated to the point where it cannot be saved
- The conservation and storage costs for it are beyond the means of Hurstville Museum & Gallery

- It is a lesser quality duplicate of an object in Hurstville Museum & Gallery's collection
- It lacks historical authenticity, provenance or any supporting information to enable proper identification or to establish its relevance to the collection
- A substantiated request for the return of the object to its original owner/donor is received.

9.2 Deaccessioning process

The object identified for removal from the collection must come before the Collections Committee for consideration with close reference to the criteria stated above.

A deaccession report must be completed outlining the condition of the item, reasons for deaccession according to the criteria, and disposal methods.

Staff, volunteers, committee members and their families are prohibited from purchasing, or otherwise obtaining, a deaccessioned object.

9.3 Disposal

In priority order, deaccessioned items must be:

- Returned to the donor or family. If after a thorough search this is not possible, or the donor or family do not want the object, the object should be;
- Transferred to another appropriate institution
- Used as an educative/interpretive tool
- Depending on the item's condition, sold to generate income for Hurstville Museum & Gallery or destroyed/recycled if appropriate.
